Report

The Back to School Day celebration at Mewa Vanguard Business School was a delightful blend of laughter, entertainment, and camaraderie. With a focus on humor and fun, the event aimed to ease students back into the academic routine and create lasting memories for both new and returning students.

The celebration kicked off with a hilarious costume contest, where students were encouraged to dress up in their wackiest and most outrageous outfits. Funny photo booth was set up where students could capture silly and memorable moments with their friends. Props such as oversized glasses, funny hats, and quirky signs added to the laughter as students posed for photos. The photo booth served as a popular attraction, with long lines of eager participants waiting to join in on the fun.

Rangoli Competition

Rangoli is a very popular folk art that has several connotations across India. It is an art form in India in which patterns are created on the floor in living rooms or courtyards using materials such as coloured rice, dry flour, and coloured sand or flower petals. Rangoli competitions are one of the most popular activities during festivals. Rangoli is a spiritual distribution of colours and is considered a sign of good luck. Most of the rangoli designs maintain symmetry, like a yin and yang symbol or a swastika. These symmetrical designs created as rangoli are considered a symbol of prosperity, luck and growth.

The art of rangoli is a storehouse of symbols. Beginning with the auspicious dot, the symbols go to expand to form a line, and the basic geometrical shapes like the circle, triangle, square and so on, each having its own significance. The symbolic value represents the basic energies of the universe.
